The NBM continues its series of explanatory videos: Financial stability and concrete steps towards a European financial system in Moldova

The National Bank of Moldova (NBM) continues to inform the public about the steps it is taking in the Republic of Moldova' European integration process by launching a new explanatory video focused on financial stability.

This material is part of a video series dedicated to explaining the reforms promoted by the NBM, using accessible language, in order to support the understanding of the central bank's role in aligning the national financial system with European standards.

The video presents how the NBM contributes to strengthening the financial system through policies and actions aligned with international best practices.

The material highlights the key role of the NBM in maintaining price stability, harmonising legislation with European standards and implementing international standards of financial resilience, including those under Basel III. Integration into European financial networks, such as SEPA, ensures a modern, efficient payment system connected to the European market.

"Financial stability is a fundamental condition for European integration process - it is the foundation on which trust in the banking system and the economy as a whole is built. We are talking about strengthening a European framework that protects citizens' savings and supports a financial environment capable of attracting investment and fostering sustainable development. Through all its actions, the NBM contributes to building a safe, transparent, and competitive financial system that will facilitate the Republic of Moldova's path towards the European Union", stated the Governor of the NBM, Anca Dragu.

This new video production continues the NBM's efforts to communicate transparently and effectively about key reforms in the financial and banking sector and its contribution to the Republic of Moldova's accession process to the European Union.
